First MagHyst® Webinar

On July 9, 2026, our MagHyst® webinar series was successfully launched. The first webinar provided practical insights into the measurement and characterization of electromagnetic systems. We would like to thank all participants for their interest.

The next MagHyst® webinar will take place on October 1, 2026.

MagHyst® Webinar Series

With the MagHyst® Webinar Series, we offer a 30-minute online webinar every three months covering various topics related to MagHyst® and magnetic measurement technology. Each webinar focuses on a different area of application and provides practical insights into the measurement, analysis, and optimization of electromagnetic systems.

Next webinar: October 1, 2026

Topic: Setting the Working Air Gap with MagHyst®
